Case Study: Internet Access

A large organization decreased telephone costs and improved productivity by enhancing their Internet access.

Client Situation

With offices in the United States and abroad, an international company needs high speed Internet access for all of its employees.

Client Problem

The company is currently accessing the Internet from several workstations with each computer requiring its own outside telephone line and modem. The organization is concerned that employees are not productively using the Internet.

SoftwareUnlimited Solution

Using SoftwareUnlimited's Integrate IT service, a high speed connection to the Internet is installed to allow Internet access for all employees on the network. Client workstations are configured to use the high speed connection. A Secure IT firewall protects the company from Internet intruders and restricts and monitors employee Internet activity.

Client Benefit

Telephone costs decrease by 20% and Internet access is increased for all employees. Client data is protected against Internet intruders. Organization management is provided with weekly employee Internet usage reports.
